RENDEZVOUS WITH THE PAST

n veterans' information form to the Government Archives for J. Kane's military and pension records. Receiving them a few weeks later, J. Kane's story began to unfold. His name was Jeremiah Kane and was 18 years old when he enlisted on August 16, 1862 at Marshall County, Virginia. He was illiterate (signing his name with an X) which probably accounts for the misspelling of the last name (to make matters worse, the family later changed their last name to CADN). According to the government, he was born November 9, 1842 in Maryland. He was 5 ft., 5 inches tall with fair complexion, grey eyes and light hair. He held the rank of private throughout the war. His regiment saw action in such battles as New Market, Piedmont, Lynchburg, Winchester, Strasburg, Cedar Creek, Petersburg (Fight at Fort Gregg), and finally at Appomattox. It seems that on the retreat from Petersburg to Appomattox in 1865, Jeremiah contacted diptheria, resulting in an infection of the throat. With the "dog tag" swinging around his neck and probably bothering him, he might have pulled it off and threw it away at Appomattox. This, of course, is merely speculation. Anyway, shortly after the surrender, Kane was sent to the hospital at Camp Parole, Annapolis, Md., and eventually to the Tripler General Hospital in Columbus, Ohio, where he was mustered out of service on May 25, 1865 to return home.

From the regimental history of the 12th West Virginia I learned that the regiment during the Battle of Appomattox "formed a line on the left of the division. Excepting the skirmish line, was not actually engaged, though under the fire of the enemy's artillery". When the white flags went up along the Confederate battle line, the regiment "now halted and remained in line for perhaps two hours," waiting for news of Lee's surrender. It was during these two hours that Jeremiah Kane lost his tag and buckle because "after 12 noon our line moved up toward the rebel camp into open ground." So while Kane was watching one of history's most important moments, he was leaving behind a reminder of his presence in Appomattox in 1865.

Loaded with this wealth of information I decided to continue my search for this soldier. The pension records showed that Jeremiah was buried in Washington, Pennsylvania so this last Christmas (1976) my wife and I set off on a small excursion up north. Arriving in Washington (20 miles south of Pittsburgh) in the worse snowstorm of the decade, we immediately inquired to the whereabouts of the Washington Cemetery. Luckily it was a well established burial ground and had a full time caretaker who graciously helped us locate and photograph Jeremiah's grave in the snow. I felt the search was still not over so we proceeded to the office of the Washington Observer, the daily newspaper. Telling our plight to one of the staff writers, Marilyn Posner, she agreed to publish an article in the paper expressing our wish to possibly find some of Kane's descendants. We anxiously returned home to await any replies brought about by our story.

It wasn't but a few days later that the first of many long distance calls began to arrive. People called who actually remembered Jeremiah Cain (he didn't die until 1917 and they were quite young at the time), people who were kin to either he or his wife Sarah, but most astonishing was the call from a Mr. Glenn Cain, Jeremiah's grandson! Jeremiah's eldest son William (Born 1868) was his father. It was he who supplied me with the information about the changing of the last name from Kane to Cain, he gave detailed information on Jeremiah and Sarah's children, and most impressively an actual photograph of Jeremiah taken probably shortly after the war. The search had finally been completed.

One can only wonder what Jeremiah's impressions were of Lee's surrender at Appomattox Court House on April 9, 1865, over 112 years ago. But even more mysterious would be Cain's reaction, if he was still living, to the news his "dog tag" had been found after more than a century being lost.

transition as smooth as possible.

"After tax season, I plan to visit you seeking to learn of your concerns effecting the office of the Commissioner of Revenue", Mays said. "I would greatly appreciate your support in helping me to continue to serve you as Commissioner of Revenue for Appomattox County."

Mays says he would like for the citizens of the county to be aware of his platform which follows: "If elected, I pledge as your Commissioner to operate this office of Commissioner of Revenue as efficiently as possible; I pledge as your Commissioner to be accessible to the people at all times in handling their needs in a courteous and respectful manner; I pledge as your Commissioner to work in full cooperation with the Board of Supervisors in the county in seeking tax relief for the elderly in Appomattox County; I pledge as long as I am your Commissioner to assist the people of Appomattox County in preparing federal and state income taxes. Appomattox is one of the few counties in Virginia that offers assistance in filing federal income taxes; I pledge as your Commissioner to work in full cooperation with the Farm Bureau and Board of Supervisors in eliminating tax levy on livestock and farm machinery for the farmers in Appomattox County; I pledge as your Commissioner to be available to all districts of the county in helping people to file personal property taxes, and also, as a convenience to the citizens, federal tax forms, state tax forms and personal property tax forms will be available in various locations around the county; I pledge as your Commissioner to attend meetings, classes, and seminars to keep abreast with all new tax laws which will help me better serve the people and to represent Appomattox County at tax meetings by speaking up for them; I pledge as your Commissioner to open the office on Saturdays from March 1 through April 15 of each year for the convenience of the people; I pledge as your Commissioner to continue assisting the people in obtaining their birth certificates; I pledge as your Commissioner to offer my support in adopting a land use program for the County of Appomattox; and finally, I pledge as your Commissioner to honor the office of Commissioner of Revenue by serving you on a fair and impartial basis."

REACTS SETS MEETING

The Central Virginia React Team will hold its monthly meeting Sunday, April 3rd at the Appomattox Sewing Plant cafeteria located off Oakleigh Avenue at 2:30 p.m.

Jr. Woman's Club of Appomattox Wins Seven District Awards

The Appomattox Jr. Woman's Club won six First Place awards and one Honorable Mention during the awards presentation at the Alice-Kyle Spring District Meeting held Saturday, March 26th. Out of 12 possible First Place awards, the Appomattox Jr's. won six which represent more first place awards won than any of the other ten junior clubs in the district.

Mrs. Jerry Falwell, President of the Alice-Kyle District, presided at the meeting held at First Baptist Church in South Boston and attended by 166 General club members and 59 junior club members in the district.

Seven representatives from the Appomattox Jr. Club attending the meeting were Mrs. John R. Booker, President; Ms. Karen Knapp; Mrs. William Jackson; Mrs. William Stratton; Mrs. Billy Thompson; Mrs. Sam Martin and Mrs. James Nolen. Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Nolen who are presently serving as District Jr. Chairmen in the Mental Health Division, Home Life Department, and Leadership Development respectively participated in the awards presentation.

The Appomattox Jr's received First Place in the Conversation Dept. for their outstanding projects in this field including an aluminum drive collecting 42 pounds of aluminum with proceeds being donated to the VFWC Conversation Project and a newspaper drive sponsored last Spring collecting 5,540 pounds of newspaper netting $60.60 which was donated to the Appomattox Co. High School FFA to purchase trees to be planted at the Children's Park on Evergreen Avenue.

First Place was awarded in the Arts Department for the club's presentation of the Podium Drape to the Town of Appomattox during the 1976 Railroad Festival bearing the Town's official seal. The seal was chosen as a result of a Town Seal Contest sponsored by the Jr. Woman's Club during the 1975 Festival. Another project in this department included the club's participation in an Arts display during a community oriented project.

First place was received int the Performing Arts Division. The club's projects in this area included securing bands and music groups for two days entertainment during a community project and sponsoring of a Saturday evening concert featuring Ray Pillow.

First Place was awarded in the Creative Arts Department. Numerous projects of the Appomattox Jr's contributed to this award. In this department, the club sponsored an annual Arts and Crafts contest within the club, designed & decorated a float to be entered in the festival parade, was in charge of arrangements and securing of craftsmen for the two-day Arts & Crafts Exhibition during a community oriented project, presented an interesting program on patchwork art during a regular monthly meeting, & made handmade decorations for their annual Thanksgiving Dance. Also, the club presented Mrs. Annie Mae Emerson, former president of the Alice-Kyle District, with a needlepoint picture bearing the Alice-Kyle Emblem which was worked on a 12X12 screen and made by a club member, Mrs. Sue Martin.

First Place was also awarded in the Health Division for the Appomattox Jr. Club's outstanding projects in the health areas. One of the club's major projects is sponsoring the Appalachian Region Red Cross Bloodmobile for Appomattox Co. Also, the club made donations to the Appomattox Co. Rescue Squad, CARE, & the Crippled Children's Hospital. The Mother's March of Dimes Walk is also a main project in the Health Division which is organized & directed by the club. During this reporting period, approximately $1,000 was collected during the drive with the aid of Appomattox Co. High School Students. The Appomattox Jr. Club also provided the opportunity for a local youth to spend four weeks at Camp Easter Seal as a speech camper; & sponsored three Little League Basketball Games in 1976 in addition to a "No-Bake" Sale with proceeds amounting to $235.00. This amount was donated to the Pediatric Endocrine Lab in Charlottesville in the name of Eddie Lewis, son of Mr. & Mrs. Ray Lewis of Spout Springs. The Health Department in the Appomattox Jr. Club also held a most outstanding program during one of the regular meetings with Dr. O'Brien as special guest speaker. Following the program, Dr. O'Brien was presented a plaque from the Appomattox Jr.'s in recognition of his services for over 40 years to the community. A reception open to the public was held in his honor following the program.

First Place was awarded in Leadership Development for the club's outstanding part in the Railroad Festival. Two of the club's members served as chairmen of the festival and were responsible for co-ordinating & organizing the festival in conjunction with several other local civic organizations. Club members had the opportunity to appear on several T.V. programs, radio stations & personal interviews. This experience provided a wonderful opportunity for these club members to practice their public speaking skills. Also, officers & chairmen of the local club attended workshops & had the opportunity to be enlightened on Parliamentary Procedure. In April of 1976, the Membership Committee of the Appomattox Jr's. had an Orientation Program for prospective members which provided a delightful evening of learning about the local, district, state — national Jr. Women's Clubs. All of the above activities inspires club members to take an active part whether large or small within the club & develop a sense of leadership within the local club as well as district level.

Honorable Mention (equal to 2nd place) was given in the Public Affairs Department for the club's performance in this field but not necessarily in all areas. In this department, the Appomattox Jr's. in conjunction with two other civic organization sponsored the Fall Athletic Banquet for the Co. High School sport players. The club donated $63 which represented cost of meals for the volleyball team & coaches. In addition, they presented a trophy to the Most Valuable Player on the volleyball team. Also, a $50 donation was given to Appomattox Volunteer Fire Dept in appreciation of their services to the community and a donation of $29 was made to the "Common Glory" in Williamsburg for costume funding. In this department, the Appomatox Jr. Club secured & made arrangements for the American Freedom Train to stop in Appomattox during the 1976 festival. At that time, a wooden display case made by Westvaco & filled with local artifacts & souvenirs of our historic town was presented to the Vice-President of the Freedom Train by Mrs. Pack. The case was designed & items arranged in it by Mrs. Carolyn Thompson, a Jr. Woman's Club Member.

Also held during this Srping meeting was the annual district "Arts & Crafts Contest. Blue ribbon entries on the local level were entered in competition & those entries winning on district level were Mrs. Sam Martin, 3rd. Place Christmas Wall Decoration; & Mrs. John R. Booker, 2nd. Place in Crafty Creations for her Applehead Santa Claus & 3rd. Place in Christmas Stockings for her crocheted stocking.

Following the business meeting a delightful luncheon was hosted by the South-Boston-Halifax Jr. Woman's Club, Tuesday Woman's Club, Virginia Woman's Club & the Halifax Woman's Club.

During the luncheon, Mrs. Sam Martin presented Mrs. Falwell with a handmade scroll bearing the Alice-Kyle emblem she had designed for use at the upcoming VFWC Convention to be held in April.

Bryant Announces Candidacy For House of Delegates

Kenneth M. Bryant, of New Canton, Virginia, announces his candidacy for the Virginia House of Delegates, representing the 27th House District, position now held by Claude W. Anderson.

Bryant is a 35-year old farmer and businessman in Buckingham County. He operates a small general merchandise store and farm supply, along with a beef cattle and commercial hog operation.

He is married to Betsy Holloman Bryant, formerly of Goldsboro, N.C. They have four children, ages 6 years through 11 years, who attend public schools in Buckingham. Mrs. Bryant teaches the second grade at the Dillwyn Primary School.

Mr. Bryant is now serving a second four-year term on the Buckingham County Board of Supervisors. He served on the School Board from 1968 to 1972. Bryant was appointed to the Board of Directors of The Central Virginia Community Health Center and is now Chairman of that board. He also represents Buckingham on the C-PAC Board and served on the Piedmont Regional Library Committee. He is a member of the Ruritan Club and the Farm Bureau.

Bryant is a 1969 graduate of the Buckingham County Public Schools, was employed by the C & O Railway Company for two years, attended Louisburg College for one year and graduated from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1965 with a B.S. degree in Business Administration.

He is a member of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, where he serves as a trustee and teaches the Youth Boys Sunday School class.

Bryant, having served in local government for ten years, feels that he will be able to relate to the State Legislative Body problems which local government officials have in meeting the needs of the people.

Bryant is now in the process of qualifying to run in the Democratic Primary to be held June 14, 1977.

A.C.H.S. APPEARS ON KLASSROOM KWIZ

On March 14, the National Honor Society of Appomattox County High School selected contestants to represent them on Klassroom Kwiz in Roanoke, Va. Those selected to represent Appomattox were Walker Covington, Susan Rosser, and Dean Martin. Alternates were Don Harvey and Karen Carter.

Appomattox defeated a group from Fort Chiswell on last Monday nights show. This was quite an accomplishment since this trio had reigned as champions for six weeks.

Monday night Appomattox returned to defend their title against contestants from Alleghany County High School. It was an exciting match down to the finish, with Appomattox in the lead after the first round. However after the last round, the score was in Alleghany's favor making them new champions.

The contestants did a remarkable job and should be commended for their efforts. Special thanks and appreciation are extended to Mrs. Mary Grey Holland, Mrs. Mary Turner, and Mr. Frank Lee Elder, whose guidance and help were instrumental in the success of the Appomattox team.
